

Don't miss Mass Bay RRE's rare mileage train excursion: 'SOUTH COAST EXPLORER'

(Boston) - Middleboro - Cotley Jct. - New Bedford - Myricks - Fall River - Cotley Jct. - Attleboro & Return

One day only - Saturday, October 12, 2019!!

Mass Bay RRE returns to southeastern Massachusetts for our first train excursion to New Bedford in over a half-century. Our specially chartered 'South Coast Explorer' train continues our 85-year tradition of offering special train excursions to the public and offers a preview of the Phase 1 route of the MBTA's South Coast Rail, scheduled for completion in late 2023.

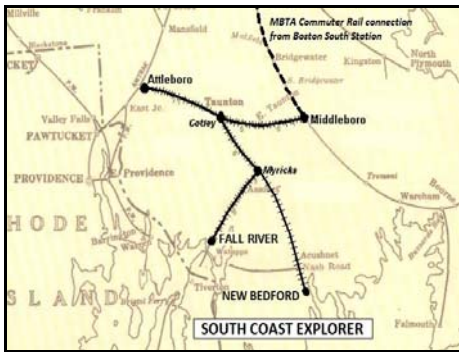

Our train will depart from the MBTA's Middleboro/Lakeville commuter rail station at 10:00 AM. From Middleboro we'll head west to Cotley Junction, in the city of Taunton. There we'll reverse direction, heading southward to Myricks Junction and New Bedford. After a stop for photos, we'll return to Myricks and head south to Fall River, where another photo opportunity awaits. After leaving Fall River, our train will return to Cotley Junction and head west to Attleboro. We'll then return to Middleboro, arriving there around 6:00 PM. One or two photo runbys are planned at suitable locations en route, as schedule and operating conditions allow.

This will be the first publicly-offered passenger train to go all the way to New Bedford since our October 1967 excursion, that also went to Fall River and all the way to Newport, RI, and it will be our first trip between Taunton and Attleboro since May, 1980.

Boston-area passengers may make a guaranteed connection to our excursion train at Middleboro using MBTA train 1001 from Boston's South Station, Braintree and other stops along the Middleboro line. We'll return to Middleboro in time for connecting passengers to catch MBTA train 1014 back to Boston at 7:04 PM.
